1	Delete Resolutions cannot be archived within 3 years. This resolution will replace the resolution of the Berlin congress in 2014.	(1) Towards European Military Cooperation / (2) Considering that: / (3) Europe is facing internal and external threats to its peace and security. These include / (4) regional conflict, terrorism, weak democratic structures, human rights violations and / (5) economic instability. / (6) Security is the foundation of economic stability and democratic structures within and / (7) around the European Union. / (8) In order to secure European interests and promote European liberal values soft power is / (9) not enough to meet the challenges, the European Union needs to increase its hard / (10) capabilities to provide diplomatic leverage against both state and non-state actors. / (11) Noting that: / (12) the EU member states, at the moment, spend an equal amount of money on Defence / (13) compared to China and Russia combined. / (14) a European Common Security and Defence Policy is already in place, however not / (15) efficient due to different national security strategies and interests. / (16) Military cooperation between member states is taking place already. Both bilaterally / (17) (Dutch-German division Fast Forces), and multilaterally (BENELUX defence cooperation / (18) between Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg and the partnership between the Nordic / (19) states), further within a NATO context (Baltic Air Policing mission) and within a European / (20) context (procurement coordination through the EDA). / (21) Britain's exit from the European Union removes one of the biggest obstacles to stronger / (22) EU defence in tandem with NATO. / (23) LYMEC calls upon: / (24) Security strategies to be focussed on prevention of conflict rather than conflict resolution. / (25) By cooperation between development aid, diplomacy, police, justice, sanctions, cyber and / (26) defenses could help in crises before it ever escalates into a (violent) conflict. This can not / (27) be done by one country alone, working together as EU is crucial. The efficiency of / (28) defence spending could be markedly improved by closer cooperation between member / (29) states. / (30) European member states to work towards intensifying the Common Security and Defense / (31) Policy (CSDP) and to as soon as possible move towards the creation of a "Defence / (32) Union" / (33) Member organisations to push ALDE group and its member organisations to support the / (34) creation of a European defence force. / (35) European member	-

58	Replace	(2) Europe / (3) Throughout Europe the knowledge about the risk for and the actual spreading of antimicrobial / (4) resistance must be changed for the better. The information needs to be clearer about this issue / (5) as this in fact must be said to be a highly challenging and up-to-date topic for the future of / (6) Europe, considering our common wealth. This considered in a health manner as well as strictly / (7) economically. Today's outspread, common use of antimicrobial medicine in foremost meat / (8) productions raises serious questions. By today's highly irresponsible using of the drug as a so to / (9) say just-to-be-safe preventive use the increasing resistance must be said to be a fact. / (10) Estimations of millions of people dying from the cause of antimicrobial resistance by the year of / (11) 2050 speaks very clearly about the need for action. As well, there are also obvious economic / (12) effects that would be real and concrete if we do not act clearly on this matter in time. / (13) With this background we call on:	The discovery of antimicrobial drugs has been a major socio-economic driving force in the twentieth century. Since the eve of the twenty-first century, however, humankind has suffered setbacks in the battle against bacteria, viruses and other parasites due to antimicrobial resistance. Almost 25 000 Europeans lose this battle each year, mainly because of the misuse of antibiotics in human medicine. Therefore, the apt response of the European Union after the Microbial Threat Conference in 1998 via the creation of the European Antimicrobial Resistance Surveillance System (EARSS) and later the European Antimicrobial Resistance Surveillance Network (EARS-Net) should be deepened.
