

Letter of motivation: LYMEC Bureau member

Ines Holzegger

Dear fellow liberals,

It has been quite some time since my journey in liberal international politics and within LYMEC started. Being the vice president of “JUNOS Studierende”, the Austrian liberal students’ wing, as well as on the JUNOS national board as International Officer and board member in charge of external affairs, I was able to gain political insights and experience. I have always been passionate about change with regards to improvement and am not afraid of hard work or tough challenges.

LYMEC is way more than an umbrella organization that holds together likeminded liberals – it is a chance to fight united for our shared values. Nevertheless, in order to do so, we need to build capacities for engagement and not be afraid of re-thinking old processes.

I am very excited to be nominated for the LYMEC Bureau and to be able to share my ideas for the future of LYMEC with you – here are just a few of them:

Let's be vocal!

Through LYMEC, we have the chance to make our ideas and values heard. We need to take advantage of this and be a strong voice for the liberal youth from all across Europe. Whenever the rule of law, freedom of speech, or democracy are threatened, we need to speak up!

Let's be open!

Next to our liberal values, members are at the core of LYMEC. In order to use the full potential of our organization, sharing information is key. Keeping the members up to date on the work and progress of the Bureau is a chance to connect even outside of the Congress setting.

Let's be connected!

LYMEC members are not only united in liberalism but also in diversity. We need to embrace each member organization's knowledge to grow - "Twinnings" which can be a great way to learn from each other and make international politics accessible to local chapters as well. LYMEC can provide information to member organizations and enable an information exchange between interested chapters.

Of course, I have many more ideas to enable LYMEC to progress, grow, and become fit for future challenges. If you want to know more or have any questions concerning my candidacy, please do not hesitate to contact me! It would be a great honor to receive your trust and support to become a member of the LYMEC Bureau.

Yours liberally,

Ines Holzegger
